

Negotiating Life

Passing an edge
something waits,

knotted to talk.
What I know gets

occluded by truces.

They flatten
in time
leaving ribbons and

wax,
and me,
diplomats.